

Siebel, Daon team on border security

Siebel Systems of San Mateo, Calif., and Daon of New York City are forming an alliance to provide biometric ID information solutions for federal border management agencies, the companies said April 8. Siebel develops business and government applications software while Daon markets biometric ID products with iris, facial, fingerprint, and voice recognition technologies.

The alliance combines the biometric DaonEngine with Siebel's Homeland Security 7 and Government 7 software to help authorities prevent and detect passport and visa fraud and record the arrivals and departures of visitors, the companies said.
