GLIDE health pass™

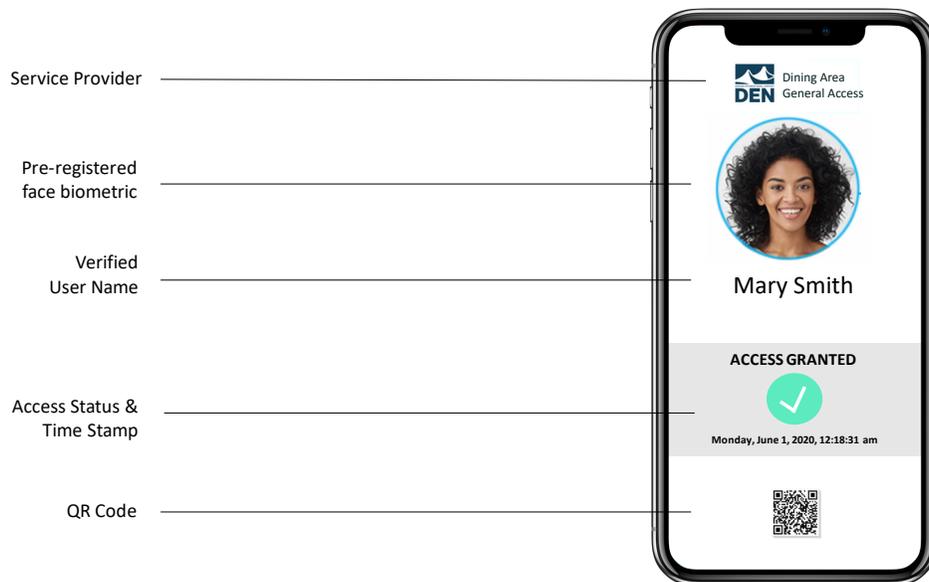

ADAPTABLE, REAL-TIME DIGITAL HEALTH CREDENTIALS

A PATCHWORK PANDEMIC

As Ed Yong writes in The Atlantic, “The coronavirus is coursing through different parts of the U.S. in different ways, making the crisis harder to predict, control, or understand.” For businesses, it’s this lack of uniformity that makes re-opening so vexing. Every brand, business line, campus, storefront and facility might need to operate differently—and those needs will remain in constant flux as hyper-local conditions and expert guidance evolve day-to-day. Yet no one has created a “health passport” with the design flexibility and real-time adaptability needed to help businesses get this right.

AN ADAPTABLE SOLUTION

IdentityX Health™ is the “smarter” health passport that’s flexible and adaptable by design, allowing businesses to build a sophisticated health check process that meets their unique and evolving specifications. Whether you need a simple health questionnaire administered to employees or a complete identity proofing of new customers secured by state-of-the-art facial biometrics and tied to antibody or vaccination results, the IdentityX platform helps you strike the perfect balance of security and user convenience, minute-by-minute.
